- Introduction to Servlets
- a Servlet is a class that handles requests, processes them and reply back with a response.
- For example, we can use a Servlet to collect input from a user through an HTML form, query records from a database, and create web pages dynamically.
- It is used to extend the capabilities of servers that host applications accessed by means of a request-response programming model.

Servlet can be described as follows:

- Servlet is a technology which is used to create a web application
- It is an API that provides many interfaces and classes including documentation.
- Servlet is an interface that must be implemented for creating any Servlet.
- It is also a class that extends the capabilities of the servers and responds to the incoming requests. It can respond to any requests.
